PRESIDENT HARDING'S FUNERAL TRAIN IN CHICAGO—Photograph shows the funeral train of President Harding approaching and one part of the immense crowds which waited for hours in the hot sun to do homage to the President. The train may be seen approaching in the distance. The mourners gathered at the railroad station from all sections of the State. The train passed on eastward through a veritable 3,000-mile lane of grief-stricken people. (All photos are copyright by International News Reel.)

HEADS BOWED TO DEAD CHIEF

Washington, Aug. 8. (I. N. S.)—All that a great and powerful people can do to show their veneration and their respect for a departed leader was done here today in the National Capitol for Warren G. Harding.

The cavalcade of sorrow deposited its honored dead at the nation's capital at 11:20 a. m. The slow, mournful journey down historic Pennsylvania avenue, midst crowded sidewalks of sorrowing citizens, took sixty-three minutes. The remains of the President were then carried up the broad east entrance into the rotunda for the funeral service.

Historic Pennsylvania avenue, which has echoed to the sadness of Lincoln's cortege, the triumphant tramp of Grant's men, home from the wars, the grief that attended the passing of Garfield and McKinley, reverberated today to the marching of those who did honor to Harding—home at last after a 3,000-mile journey.

In the great procession which marked the final passing of Harding from the White House to the Capitol today there were the great of the nation and the small.

There was the new President, Calvin Coolidge, slim, reddish haired, his face reflecting already the realization of what burdens have suddenly been set astride his narrow shoulders by an inscrutable fate.

Turn Over.

Program of the Harding Funeral Service

Washington, Aug. 8.—The services held in the Rotunda of the Capitol today for the late President Harding follow:

Invocation: Dr. J. Freeman Anderson, assistant pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, of which Mr. Harding was a member. Hymn: "Lead Kindly Light," male quartet of Calvary Baptist Church. Scripture: Twenty-third Psalm; Micah, sixth chapter, eighth verse.

Revelations, twenty-second chapter, first to fifth verses quotations.

Prayer: Dr. James S. Montgomery, chaplain of the House of Representatives.

Hymn: "Nearer My God to Thee," male quartet.

Benediction: Dr. Anderson.

Washington, Aug. 8. (I.N.S.)—Day came to a city filled with the hushed [illegible] of armed hosts moving to place the White House that Warren Harding might have fitting escort as he went to the high honors that awaited him.

Rank on rank, the troops wheeled into place, facing eastward to where the great, gray pile of the Capitol loomed against the morning sky.

Soldiers in khaki, sailors in white, marines in blue, the long column lent a colorful gleam to a picture otherwise somber save for the flags drooping at half staff from the roofs about.

And all through the massed formation of the arms of the service of which this dead civilian was commander-in-chief, were the mourning bands on arm or saber hilt, the black streamers falling from the starry flags they bore.

A simple, kindly gentleman lay dead, yet military honors were his right such as no general or admiral shall know, for he spoke in life with the voice of the whole people, commanding the people's army, the people's navy. And they moved gladly to obey that voice.

SORROWFUL SPECTACLE

Long before the troops came marching to their places to wait with bayonets fixed until the sharp call of trumpets set them moving eastward to lead this fallen comrade to his long rest, the people of Washington and all the cities about had trooped down to their humble places inside the steel strands that kept wide Pennsylvania avenue clear from end to end for the sorrowful spectacle.

They came by thousands and tens of thousands to line the way with banks of silent, living tribute to the dead.

Among the bared heads were many, now touched with gray, that thus honored martyred McKinley as he was carried over the same way to the same crowding honors and dignities that today came to his fellow Ohioan.

But to the younger folk, who have known the wide thoroughfare only in its days of joy and triumph, this slow-moving parade of sorrow brought a sense of personal loss and depression.

DIFFERENT NOW

They saw the Unknown carried westward through the great street to his matchless tomb, but there was triumph and the impulse of loyalty to the flag in that pageant. There was little of human grief. The way of his death glorified the sacrifice.

It was different now, for here was a man whose name the world had come to know, whose sturdy figure and kindly eyes were familiar to everyone here in Washington.

It seemed but an hour ago he had ridden away, smiling, nodding gay farewells as he set out on his long journey to be greeted everywhere with the cheers and shouting of his fellow Americans.

Now he was dead and the cheering and the shouting were over, suddenly, terribly over.

FULL REALIZATION

Not till last night, when under dimmed lamps and with half-seen troopers riding ahead through the silent streets, the casket was carried to the White House from the funeral train, did full realization come to Washington of the sad day that had struck for the nation.

Until then it was terrible, but far away. With that curiously silent spectacle impressing deeply the minds of the thousands who waited so patiently through a day and half a night to witness it, today's pomp and panoply of sorrow had new meaning.

ARISES EARLY

A day of honors and of sorrows was ushered in beneath a cloudless sky, but with the hot haze of mid-Summer almost obscuring the sun as it mounted the east to look for the last time upon Warren Harding among the scenes of his greatest labors. Now and then, however, as the crowd of watchers began to gather along the funeral way, fitful breezes rustled a benediction among the branches of the elms and maples that line the historic avenue.

Mrs. Harding, who recrossed the threshold of the White House but a short time after midnight, after her long journey homeward with the dead, was up at 7:45 this morning.

Refreshed by several hours' sleep, she renewed to the few close friends and relatives about her in her house of sorrow her determination to bear up bravely through all the trying funeral hours, a determination which carried her three thousand miles through scenes of sorrow which never have been surpassed in the nation's history.

Shortly after she awoke and while the city was stirring itself in preparation for the great events of the day, the widow of the great white mansion, who had been so lately the first lady of the land, had her breakfast alone in her room on the second floor, across the hall from the bedroom which had belonged to him who now slept at the foot of the great stairway.

MORE FLOWERS

The morning sun, despite the haze that gave a touch of unreality to the funeral day, raked the great crystal chandeliers in the East Room with a salvo of light and gave a new glory to the majesty amid which the dead President was sleeping his last sleep within the portals which had held for him so much of hope and promise.

With the dawn the tale of tribute told by the floral offerings that already hid the walls of the great room was taken up again by others who desired to pay a need of praise and gratitude to the kindly leadership of the sleeper.

The first wreath to arrive was from the scouting fleet—a great anchor of asters, white on blue. It was laid reverently among the offerings of princes and of humbler folk banked about the casket in a great smothering profusion of blooms and fragrance.

ALASKA'S TRIBUTE

In a place of honor near the casket was one wreath that would have brought a tear of gratitude to the kindly blue eyes of the President, could they have been opened once again to behold the splendour of his last rest amid the flowers.

It was from the government of Alaska, a woven mass of purple and white orchids. Yellow roses, lilies of the valley and snapdragons, set there to symbolize the appreciation of a far land and to whose interests the fallen chieftain had given his last hour of health and strength.

Two hours before the sad march from the White House to the Capitol was to begin, the crowds were gathering along the way to pay their reverent homage during the last journey of their leader along the avenue where he had passed so many times before with the high light of unselfish endeavor in the eyes that now were closed forever.

SIMPLE RITES

Outside the Capitol the watchers came earlier than elsewhere, in the vain hope that somehow some of them might find a way into the rotunda to see the simple funeral rites.

But the little enclosure beneath the dome could only hold a handful of the many thousands and the places of honor that were reserved for the highest Government and diplomatic officials and the friends who in life had stood closest to Mr. Harding.

As he would have desired, the ceremonials chosen to express the Nation's last loving farewell were of the simplest. The pastor of his own church in Washington and the chaplain of the House of Representatives were the officiating ministers.

The brief Scripture reading selected included the verse he had kissed on his inauguration day, as, with hand uplifted, he took his oath of duty and pressed his lips against the Bible that had been Washington's. It was the eighth verse of the sixth chapter of Micah:

"He hath showed Thee, O, Lord, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

"President's Acre" Now Goes to Coolidge

Lancaster, Ohio, Aug. 8.—By the death of Warren G. Harding, Calvin Coolidge comes into possession of an acre of land in this vicinity which he may use as a burial place for himself if he so desires.

An acre of land owned by Nathaniel Wilson was bequeathed by Wilson one hundred years ago to President Andrew Jackson as a burial place and to his successors in the presidency. No chief executive has ever availed himself of the privilege, however. Wilson died in 1836.

Many locust trees are within the enclosure, and it is surrounded by a high octagonal stone wall. The place is known as "President's Acre" and is visited by many.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 8.—A crushed Lincoln penny that had been run over by the Harding funeral train, was sold to a well-dressed woman for $5 by one of many boys who had lined the track placing coins on the rails to keep as pocket-pieces. Elders who wanted coins were unable to get close enough and bought them up at good prices. Several nickels brought $3.

How Dull It Is. We Are All Fed Up. We Know Nothing. And That Bores Us.

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1923, by Star Company.

HOW LITTLE NEWS there is sometimes. And how dull it is, usually. If you leave out murders, burglaries, divorces, it is as quiet as a dog show when the dogs are not barking or fighting.

NEWS FROM THE STOCK market is the same as usual, "firmness" and "dullness" the two euphemisms to describe a crowd afraid to pay fifty for properties eagerly sought for at one hundred a little while ago.

NOTHING MUCH new from Europe, unless something happens after this is written, on the road from New York to California, via the Twentieth Century and the Santa Fe.

WHEN IT IS FOUR O'CLOCK here, it's night in Europe and nothing official can happen. Declarations of war are not made so late. Some king or prime minister might be killed in time to give you news for breakfast.

But that wouldn't be very exciting. We are, as our English brothers put it, "fed up" on excitement. If Mussolini removed the king from the throne, if somebody removed Mussolini with a sword thrust in the belly, as his predecessor Rienzi was removed; if King George, like the Lady of Shalotte, got sick of shadows and resigned his shadowy kingship; if the former Kaiser came back Kaisering, and marched down Unter den Linden with all of his sons except the one that killed himself, all in full regalia; if France evacuated the Ruhr and decided to try magnanimity in place of militarism; if Rockefeller freed all his dollars, faithful slaves, giving the dollars away as occasional slave owners used to free their black slaves; if Coolidge said, "Nothing would make me run in 1924"—still you would say, as your wife read out the headings, "That's interesting, anything else?"

AS A MATTER OF FACT all our news is dull. To write and talk about it every day, a man must have the mind of a microcephalic idiot playing jackstraws.

We live on a planet twenty-five thousand miles round, sailing through space more than five hundred million miles a year around the sun, dragged by that sun through the imponderable ether more hundreds of millions of miles, not knowing what set the earth and sun a-rolling, or why the start. We salute each other, congratulate a father and mother when a new child is born, weep with the survivors when an old man dies, hurrying around our little planet like microscopic life on the surface of a ripe pear—such are we of the human race.

No wonder our earth news bores us once in a while, and nothing seems important.

IT WILL BE of more interest in days to come, if and when we know what it is all about, why the comets travel through our solar system like the blood circulating in our veins; why new solar systems are born in distant nebulae, as tadpoles are born in a transparent clutter of frogs' eggs on a stagnant pond; what is the exact difference between that pond and the infinite ether; whether one is more important than the other in the eyes of the Power that rules both; why man possesses the power to ask ten thousand fundamental questions, not one of which he can ever hope to answer.

NO WONDER many races through many thousands of centuries have invented many religions, each one answering every question definitely, positively, and giving a guarantee with every answer. Also a promise of hell fire for anybody doubting the answer's accuracy.

STAR'S SECOND ROMANCE ENDS; ASKS DIVORCE

MARJORIE RAMBEAU

Stage beauty who is suing her husband, Hugh Dillman, for divorce after three years of stormy married life. She charges Dillman deserted her, neglected her and struck her. She was a divorcee when she wed the man from whom she now seeks freedom.

San Francisco, August 8.—Marjorie Rambeau, the actress, has filed suit for divorce against Hugh Dillman, actor. The complaint charged that Dillman had struck his wife on several occasions; that he failed to contribute to her support for nearly a year, although he earns approximately $1,000 per month, and that he deserted his wife in April, 1923.

Dillman's real name is Hugh Dillman McGaughey. They were married in New York about three years ago.

Prior to her marriage to Dillman, Miss Rambeau was the wife of Willard Mack, playwright and dramatist, from whom she was divorced in 1917.

19-YEAR-OLD GIRL CONFESSES 100 ROBBERIES

New York, Aug. 8.—Ethel Chanowitz, nineteen years old, pretty, bobbed, and well dressed, is either past mistress of the art of burglary or she has a very vivid imagination, according to the police, who say she confessed taking part in 100 robberies in two years.

Ethel was caught in the apartment of Mrs. Bessie Shepard, who called a policeman who found the girl with Mrs. Shepard's purse and $6 in her possession. Mrs. Shepard was taking a bath when the girl climbed the fire escape and entered the flat.

After a few futile tears Ethel decided she would confess, and she told a story that made the veteran policemen blink. She named two young men as her assistants and said they had been living like Sheiks and Shebas on the spoils of their thefts.

Ethel said the men usually rang bells in apartment houses until sure a certain tenant was out, then jimmied the door and "cleaned out the joint."

However, the police checked up the history and inclinations of the two young men and decided they were innocent. Ethel was held in $1,500 bail. Several hectic story magazines are said to have offered her contracts.

GIVES NOTE TO GIRL, THEN MURDERS HER

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 8.—George King, 25 years old, kissed his sweetheart, Erie Johnson, aged 17, good night, handed her a note to be mailed to his mother and then fired a bullet into her body. The girl died on the way to the hospital. King made his escape in a waiting automobile.

King's request to marry the girl, it was said, had been refused because of the girl's youth.

RIDE IN THESE TAXIS IF YOU'RE MILLIONAIRE

If you are caught in a rain storm by all means summon an Armstrong Transfer Company's taxicab. If you are a millionaire and nothing happens to the taxi you may survive the journey. This is what happened to an editor who took an Armstrong cab from Summer street, Forest Hills bound:

At Cunard street the register showed $1.10 when the cab broke down. The driver went to telephone for another cab. While he was gone the meter leaped twice—ten cents a leap. Not only was the editor delayed but he was charged for the delay. Perfect!

The driver returned and the editor persuaded him to stop the meter's leaping activities. Having timed the waiting period the editor discovered the meter had moved every two minutes instead of every three minutes as advertised in the cab.

When the relief taxi came along and the editor changed cars he was horrified to discover that before he moved a first half-mile rate of 40 cents showed on the register, despite the fact that at great inconvenience he was continuing a journey interrupted through no fault of his own and had already paid a first half mile charge.

Yes, he got home eventually.

Aside from this incident, a great many folks would like to know why you can hire a taxicab in New York city for 50 cents the first mile and thirty cents each additional mile, with no extra charges if one person or five persons are carried, while prohibitive rates, with 20 cents per extra person, et cetera, are charged by taxis in Boston.

12 SPOONERS ARE WARNED IN WALTHAM

Six young couples, found spooning in automobiles parked near Beaver and Winter streets, Waltham, were warned of arrest if caught again by Sergeant Edward Cloonan and Patrolmen Essex and Whalen of the Waltham police.

The police found the six cars parked within a short distance of each other. Each car contained one couple. Registration numbers of the cars were noted.

Mr. Weiler and Mr. Thomas expect to return about the middle of September.

VATICAN WORKING FOR PEACE

Constant Efforts in Progress to Bring About Ruhr Settlement

London, Aug. 8 (A.P.—Constant efforts towards a settlement of the Ruhr situation are in process at the Vatican, according to the Daily Telegraph.

Charles Jonnart, French Ambassador to the Holy See, says the newspaper's informant has had another long and important audience with the Pope, while former Chancellor Wirth of Germany, who is staying in Rome, and the German Minister at the Vatican, Herr Bergen, have been in constant communication with Cardinal Gasparri, Papal Secretary of State.

TO WEAKEN FRANCE.

Powerful political forces in Germany are looking to the Vatican to bring about the weakening of the French hold on the Rhine, says the writer, while the Reichstag is determined to leave no stone unturned to discover some channel through which Paris may be approached without absolute loss of dignity.

The hopes placed in the Vatican by Germany are considerable, and with good grounds, the article continues. Recalling the last note of the Vatican on the Ruhr question and asserting that the attempts of the Holy See to play the part of an altruistic intermediary date from the Genoa conference, the writer concludes:

"If it is too early to say that the Vatican channel is already being used to establish direct connection between Paris and Berlin, one can safely assume that it has been kept clear for a transaction of this sort."

French Put Up Bars Again in the Ruhr

Dusseldorf, Aug. 8 (AP)—As a result of various disturbances in the area during the last week-end, the Eastern frontier between occupied and unoccupied Germany will be closed to ordinary travelers for one week beginning at midnight tonight. The special red permits issued at the time of previous closures will still be valid, but travelers without special and urgent business will be stopped. The French announced that necessary measures will be taken to assure the normal transportation of food.

The Allies ten days ago opened the frontier for traffic, because of the then comparatively orderly conditions.

The agitation among the workers here is becoming more serious daily, according to both French and German sources. The most serious incident yet reported occurred at the Stheidel iron mines, where the miners locked the mine directors in their offices and declared themselves in control.

Another incident reported in the German press occurred at the [illegible]zerneulck mines where the officials told the miners there were not sufficient paper marks to pay wages. The miners then proceeded to erect a gallows outside the offices [illegible] wages were promised [illegible] further parley.

Berlin, Aug. 8 (AP)—Dr. [illegible], Minister of Economics, is quoted by the Vossische Zeitung as saying the government does not intend to abandon paper mark currency as was rumored yesterday. Dr. [illegible] added that the government is resolved to do everything possible to [illegible] the mark and that it will continue measures already taken toward that end.

SURE OATH IS ALL RIGHT; MAY BE REAFFIRMED

By CHARLES O. POWER.

Montpelier, Vt., Aug. 8.—Motor cars between Rutland and White River Junction and points beyond in both directions have established a new line of travel. It would seem as if none failed to pass the Coolidge home at Plymouth. During the several hours I was there dozens of motorists stopped to shake the hand of the President's father. Many were from Vermont but more were from various other States.

Tourists on their way to and from the White Mountains made it a point to detour to Plymouth Notch to see Cal's dad. He met them with dignity and expressed his thanks for their praise of his son in brief and simple terms.

"You ought to be proud of your distinguished son," was the greeting of many.

"Thank you, I am," he would say. But he would not gush.

"I think President Coolidge will make a great President," others would remark.

"He will do what he thinks is right," was the invariable comeback from his father.

President Coolidge
By Hemony

CONFIDENT OF RESULTS.

The President's father has no fear for his son's place in history. To his way of thinking it is no great thing to have faith in one's son. He knows "the boy" will give the best he has and will do the best he can.

Politics the President's father will not discuss, except to say that he does not know Cal's plans for the future, whether he intends to seek a nomination for the Presidency from the Republican convention or not. Many have asked him about it and there may be a lot written as inside stuff from the President's father, but all of it may be discredited because Colonel Coolidge will not talk about it.

The most solemn thing he has ever done, in Colonel John C. Coolidge's opinion, was administering the oath to his son which commissioned him President of the United States. It is likely, he says, he never would have done it if assurances had not come from high officials in Washington that it was perfectly legal and all right for him to do it.

PRESIDENTIAL OATH.

Congressman Porter H. Dale talked with Washington and received assurances that it not only was legal but most important that Coolidge should take the oath at once as President. He was assured that a binding oath could be administered by a notary public.

"I guess it is all right and will hold good," he said. "But I expect it may be administered again in a more formal manner at Washington. There does not seem to be any doubt as to the legality of the proceeding, but it may be done over to provide a more pretentious occasion. [illegible] took the oath as prescribed by the Constitution of the United States."

OF BROAD SCOPE.

"My commission as notary fully empowers me to administer and certify to oaths of all kinds and this instance was no exception. For many years I was a justice of the peace and under that commission I could acknowledge oaths and affidavits. The commission of a notary is of broader scope."

The justices of the peace in this State are appointed by the Governor. They have more powers than those in some other States enjoy. They may issue warrants, try criminal cases of certain degrees and hear civil cases and render decisions in certain amounts. But their acknowledgements are not accepted in other States as fully as are the acknowledgements of notaries. The latter are appointed by the Judges of the Superior Court, especially for the purpose of making court papers binding and final.

HIS HANDWRITING.

It took some little explanation to convince him that people would like to see his hand writing and to know just how he had certified to the fact that his son had taken the oath as President before him as a notary. He explained that he read a typewritten copy of the constitutional form of oath, that Cal signed it and he signed a typewritten statement to the effect that Calvin Coolidge personally appeared before him and repeated after him the oath as aforesaid and subscribed to it." That was all there was to it, except to impress his seal. Cal took one copy and Congressman Dale the other.

Asked if he would acknowledge a statement by the writer, he agreed to do so, but hinted that it had better be true to the best of the maker's knowledge and belief. After some discussion the following statement was agreed upon as proper for the occasion, and, after I had held up my right hand and solemnly sworn to it, the President's father, as Notary Coolidge of Plymouth, Vt., wrote the acknowledgement which appears and affixed his seal:

"This is to certify that, to the best of my knowledge and belief, Calvin Coolidge was born on Fourth of July and is the thirtieth President of the United States.

"Charles O. Power."

"That's safe enough; I'd swear to that," said Col. Coolidge.

Another article by Mr. Power will appear in tomorrow's Boston American.

MAYOR OF LYNN AND COUNCIL IN SQUABBLE

A breach between the city administration and the City Council of Lynn came when members of the Council attacked the administration for having authorized bids for school construction without the approval of the Council.

The uproar came when the body was called upon to vote on accepting one of three bids submitted for electrical equipment for the $60,000 addition to the Cobbet Junior High School. The bids were from electrical firms in Chicago, Ashland, and Boston.

ATTACKS MAYOR.

William H. Cochrane, president of the Council, attacked Mayor McPhetres for having failed to comply with the law by advertising the bids and obtaining the approval of the Council, and for neglecting to give twenty-five electrical firms in Lynn an opportunity to bid for the work.

"It is an outrage that Lynn, one of the leading electrical centres of the world, should go outside the city for its electrical work," said Mr. Cochrane. "There is a 'nigger in the woodpile' somewhere."

BIDS REJECTED.

Councillors Elmer Elliott and Fred J. Hamelin also assailed the procedure of obtaining the bids.

The Council finally voted to reject all three bids and to consider no more bids on school work unless they are first authorized by the Council. As a result of that order work on the addition to the junior high school will be halted, and it is feared the addition may not be completed before the opening of the school term.

AMERICAN SCORES TREMENDOUS SCOOP ON HARDING PICTURES

RUSHED TO HUB BY PLANE

First Paper in This Part of the Country to Publish Pictures of Funeral Train

The Boston American today scored the biggest Boston news beat in years.

It prints the first photographs of one of the greatest news events of this generation and one of the saddest and most tremendously touching spectacles the world has ever known—the progress of President Harding's funeral train from the Pacific to the Potomac.

Through a vale of tears shed by two lanes of bowed and saddened citizens, lanes 3,000 miles long, the crape-clad funeral train crept across the continent. Station after station, mile after mile, sade-hearted folks stood silent and mourned for the man they had loved.

The world has never before known such a spectacle as the long, sad journey of that train. Pictures tell the story. And those pictures you find in today's Boston American. In no other Boston newspaper have they yet appeared. They were brought to the American by airplane.

ANOTHER BEAT.

Last night the Boston American printed the first photographs of the funeral services of the late President held in San Francisco. Going on 20 hours later no other Boston newspaper has appeared with similar photographs.

These two great beats might be enough to prove to Boston newspaper readers how far the American outclasses its rivals in the New England field. But there is more.

The Boston American beat other Boston papers 24 hours on announcing to the public that President Harding had been stricken with ptomaine poisoning. This news, prominently displayed in the American of Saturday, July 28, was given scant attention in the Boston papers of Sunday, July 29.

When the President died the Boston American was on the streets of Boston and its environs two hours before another newspaper appeared with the news.

NEWS IN ITSELF.

That is the sort of service this newspaper gives.

Can anything be more conclusive to a person investing in a newspaper expecting to get news as to the paper to buy?

Imagine! Late Tuesday your copy of the Boston American contained photographs of the Harding services in far off San Francisco. Since then morning newspapers have appeared and not one of them had a picture of this sad but important event.

How the Boston American scored this great beat is news itself.

BROUGHT BY PLANE.

Due to the untiring efforts of civilian aviator Nimmo Black, the "International News Reel" Photo Service of the Boston American got the best on the photographs showing the Harding funeral cortege leaving San Francisco for the long and sad journey home.

Black piloted a Laird Swallow plane to Omaha, Nebraska, where he met the funeral train on which E. Carl Wilson, international cameraman, who had been with the official party throughout the Alaskan trip, was a passenger.

Walsh delivered a package of photographs to Black who raced ahead of the train to Chicago with the pictures.

Black then started for New York in his plane, but encountered bad weather and was compelled to land at Cleveland, where he was able to connect with the 20th Century Limited which had left Chicago earlier in the morning.

BROADCASTED THE NEWS.

The fast train brought Black to New York in time to get the pictures to the Boston American and put over a scoop and incidentally pave the way for successive beats in other Eastern cities.

When the Boston American scored its great beats on the late President's condition due to eating the tainted crab meat in Alaska and his death later, it shared the news with New England.

Hourly bulletins on the President's condition and his death was put on the radio immediately and broadcasted by WGI and WNAC.

Are you getting such service from any other New England newspaper?

It costs thousands of dollars to gather this news but such was its importance that the American is happy to have had some part in speeding it broadcast to an anxious nation.

Due to the franchise of the Associated Press, other Boston newspapers are forbidden to radio its news. How can the American do it? Because the American subscribes to four great news services—International, Universal, Cosmopolitan and A. P.

It costs four times as much as it would to be satisfied with just the Associated Press as do our competitors.

But it is worth it.

HARDING TOMB TO BE GUARDED SIX MONTHS

Marion, O., Aug. 8 (AP)—While the nation was paying official respect to the memory of Warren G. Harding at Washington today, the late President's home folks and neighbors continued their plans for the final funeral services here Friday.

Following the brief ceremonies the body will be entombed. The home folks will disperse and President Coolidge and his official party, together with Mrs. Harding, will return to Washington.

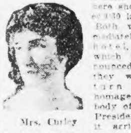
The only reminder that the body of a President of the United States lies entombed in Marion will be the soldier guard, which will be maintained at the tomb for the customary six months' period. State troops will also be on guard at the tomb till Monday.

Simplicity approaching severeness will characterize the last rites. This is the wish of Mrs. Harding. There will be no military display and nothing "official" about the services.

When the body arrives here about 9 a. m. Central time, tomorrow from Washington, it will be taken to the home of Dr. George T. Harding, Sr., the President's father. From 2 until 10 p. m. tomorrow, and again from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m. the following day, citizens will be given a last opportunity to view the face of their dead friend and leader.

Then on Friday afternoon, without military pomp, the body will be tenderly borne from the home to the cemetery, where brief and simple funeral services conducted by local ministers, will be held. First in the funeral procession following the hearse will come members of the Harding family, then the President of the United States, members of the Cabinet and other high officials, and then Mr. Harding's friends and neighbors.

MAYOR CURLEY AT HARDING SERVICE



Mrs. Curley

Washington, Aug. 8.—Mayor James M. Curley and Mrs. Curley of Boston arrived here shortly after 9:30 last night. Both went immediately to a hotel, after which they announced that they would return to pay homage to the body of the late President when it arrived. Mr. Harding and Mr. Curley were warm personal friends.

NEWSBOYS SEND WREATH TO WASHINGTON

Flowers, which speak the language of love and of reverence, will flow to Washington today from a thousand sources, to carry their mute message of sorrow to the casket containing the body of President Harding.

One of these—a wreath as large and as beautiful as any—was sent by the newsboys of the Boston American.

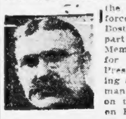
"Happy" Rubinovitch, their mentor and chief, went around among the boys and got together a fund. It takes a lot of pennies to buy the sort of a wreath that Happy wanted, but the little street merchants "kicked in" eagerly.

"We feel that the President was one of us," said Happy. "We don't know whether he ever sold papers or not, but he was a newspaper man and a crackerjack.

"Look—none of us ever got a chance to meet him, but we knew him because many's the time we yelled 'extra' on something he said or did—the day he was nominated, the day he was elected, and—gee—the day he—he—passed on.

"We had to yell 'extras' again that time, but we couldn't yell 'em very loud, honest. We're having a tag attached to the wreath. It reads 'To the memory of our beloved President.' Is that all right?"

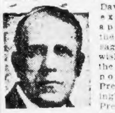
SALVATION ARMY SERVICE ON COMMON



Colonel W. A. McIntyre

Colonel W. A. McIntyre, commanding the Salvation Army in the New England States, has ordered all the Army's forces in Greater Boston to take part in a Union Memorial Service for the late President Harding at the Parkman Bandstand on the Common on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. More than twenty Army Corps will participate. The New England Staff Band of forty-two musicians will take a prominent part and Colonel McIntyre will conduct the service, assisted by Brigadier W. C. Crawford. All patriotic bodies are invited to unite with the Army in this great memorial service.

COOLIDGE 'VALUES' WALSH'S MESSAGE



David I. Walsh

Washington, Aug. 8.—President Coolidge, in a letter to Senator David I. Walsh, expressed his appreciation of the latter's message of best wishes sent on the official announcement of President Harding's death. The President's letter read:

"My dear Senator Walsh:

"I need not tell you how much I value and appreciate such a kind message as that which you send me.

"It was good of you to think of me at this time and I value it.

"Very truly yours,
(Signed)
"CALVIN COOLIDGE."

RADIOS SUSPEND REGULAR PROGRAMS

The 500 radio broadcasting stations in the country have suspended their regular broadcasting programs to honor the memory of President Harding.

The only broadcasting which will be carried on in any stations in the country Friday will be the transmitting of special memorial exercises appropriate to the occasion.

Three of the most prominent stations of the East have announced the suspension of all programs today. They are New York City, WEAF; South Dartmouth, WMAF, and Newark, N. J., WOR.

Every radio operator in the East is urged to remain silent from 10 A. M. to noon today and from 5 P. M. to 7 P. M. Friday.

DOYLE AND SPLAINE IN FUNERAL MARCH

William H. Doyle, State commander of the American Legion, has received a telegram from National Commander Alvin Owsley, to report at Washington, D. C., with State Adjutant Leo F. Splaine to take a place in the Harding funeral march today. Not more than ten men of any association, organiation or society will be allowed a place in the line. Massachusetts department colors will be carried in the solemn procession by Splaine.

WORCESTER PLANS OUTDOOR SERVICE

Worcester, Aug. 8.—Attorney John H. O'Brien, judge advocate of the State American Legion, will be the principal speaker at the open air service Friday, when Worcester pays homage as President Harding is buried in Marion. Homer J. Wheaton Post, V. F. W., will have charge. All activities in Worcester will cease throughout the day.

FORD AND EDISON TO ATTEND FUNERAL

Thomas Edison

Marion, O., Aug. 8.—Henry Ford, Thomas Edison and Harvey Firestone will attend the funeral services here Friday. A few years ago these three famous men joined with President Harding in a camping trip in the hills of Maryland. The party fished in mountain brooks, cooked supper over a camp fire and "tented out" at night.

They had planned other trips when affairs of State could again permit the President a holiday.

DRUG STORES CLOSE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

All drug stores in Greater Boston will be closed on Friday from three to five in the afternoon, in respect to the memory of the late President Harding. This action was voted by the Boston Association of Retail Druggists.

Wires Will Sound Taps as Body Is Entombed

New York, Aug. 8.—When President Harding's body is entombed at Marion on Friday a flash "TAPS" will be sent throughout the Associated Press service on all wires then in operation.

This will reach every State in the country. As soon as this is transmitted all wires will be idle and all employes will remain for two minutes in silence.

HARDING'S PASTOR STARTS FOR MARION

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 8 (I.N.S.).—Rev. George M. Landis, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church of Marion, O., left here today to officiate at the funeral of President Harding Friday. Rev. Landis was in the East when the President died, spending several days of his vacation at the home of his sister here, Mrs. G. W. Gordon, wife of a United States commissioner.

PICK COOLIDGE NOMINATOR TO BE ATTY.-GEN.

Washington, Aug. 7.—The general belief that Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty will retire from President Coolidge's Cabinet centred speculation today on a debt of political gratitude on the part of the new Executive which may result in the appointment of Wallace McCamant of Oregon to the post.

Other men under consideration include James M. Beck of New York, William M. Butler of Massachusetts and Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota. But to none is President Coolidge under the obligations that he owes McCamant.

For it was he who upset the plans of the leaders in Chicago to nominate Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin for the Vice Presidency and who set the machinery in motion that made Calvin Coolidge Vice President and now President.

McCamant is a well known lawyer and political leader living in Portland, Ore.

IRENE McAULIFFE GOES TO WASHINGTON

Miss McAuliffe

In order that she might attend the funeral of the late President, Miss Irene McAuliffe, a Boston policewoman, interrupted her summer vacation and left for Washington on the Federal express. Miss McAuliffe became a personal friend of Mr. Harding through her association with his sister, Mrs. Carolyn Harding Votaw, a former Washington policewoman.

Miss McAuliffe was a Washington policewoman several months before she was appointed on the Boston force. She is the daughter of J. P. McAuliffe, chief of police in Weston.

Through her friendship with Mrs. Votaw Miss McAuliffe frequently visited the White House.

SHERRILL NAMED AS COOLIDGE AIDE

Washington, Aug. 8.—President Coolidge has reappointed Lieutenant-Colonel Clarence O. Sherrill of the Army Engineering Corps to be his chief military aide at the White House. Major Douglas L. Weart, United States Army Engineer Corps, is to be superintendent of the White House police, relieving Major Oram Ballinger. Major Ballinger was once a carrier boy on the Marion Star and intimate personal friend of the late President and Mrs. Harding.

MRS. "WALLY" REID UNCOVERS TRAIL OF DOPE TRAFFICKERS

NO SECTION OF U. S. IS IMMUNE

Warns Against Belief That It Centres In Hollywood and Broadway

By JO. SWERLING

Hollywood—a typical hick community.

That's the way Dorothy Davenport Reid describes the movie community on the coast which in popular tradition is only a step or two behind Sodom and Gomorroh in the matter of hectic night life and revels.

She says there's less liquor in Hollywood, in proportion to its population, than there is in Boston.

She said that there are only a few score of people in the motion picture colony who are wealthy enough to own their own homes, and the rest of them lead pathetic, hand-to-mouth existences with only the hope of success to buoy them up over the lean days.

DEFENDS HOLLYWOOD.

"Of the thousands of men and women who earn their living in the pictures, I know of only two at the present time who are drug addicts. I have made a study of the narcotic situation in Hollywood, and I know what I'm talking about.

"Plumbers are just as apt to become drug addicts as actors. I know of at least one clergyman who takes drugs. Dope is not particular—it selects its victims from all classes of people, and by far the greatest part of its victims are not in the underworld, as generally supposed, but in the so-called upper crust.

"The reason is simple enough—dope costs money.

"The narcotic question naturally divides itself up into two phases—first, the problem of preventing its spread and, second, the problem of rescuing those who are already victims of it.

"There is a means of solving the first problem, at least to a very large and practical extent. The second problem is, unfortunately, involved in a great many complications—technical, medical and political—which makes its solution in the near future questionable and uncertain.

MUST EDUCATE PUBLIC.

"All students and authorities agree that the remedy which will prevent the spread of narcotic addiction is to be found in public education. But like all public education problems it presents immense difficulties. It is a big task, but it is not impossible.

"Federal drug inspectors will bear me out when I say that there is a wider and more general traffic in drugs in the smaller, inconspicuous sections. Take a cross section of any city and you will find a quota of victims in that cross section.

"If we are to beat out the demon dope, let's not go after Hollywood—let's go let's go after Main street.

"For Main street is the centre of the drug traffic in every city."

Another chapter in Mrs. Reid's revelations concerning the drug traffic in tomorrow's Boston American. Watch for it.

WOMAN'S HOME IS TARRED AND FEATHERED

Troy, Me., Aug. 8.—A coat of tar and feathers was applied in the home of a woman resident of this town during her absence on a vacation.

The police have been unable to learn the identity of the persons responsible for the affair.

Washington, Aug. 8.—Although President Coolidge sees visitors at the rate of one about every five minutes he is not so busy as to forget his old friends at the Willard Hotel who looked after his comfort during the days, when as Vice President, he was less conspicuous than now. MAN, 63, SHOOTS UP STREET FROM WINDOW

Springfield, Aug. 8.—James Breen, sixty-three years old, sat in his bedroom window on the second floor of No. 22 Peabody lane and shot fifty shots at Main street with two large revolvers.

Breen wasn't shooting at anything in particular—arc lights, windows, poles, it didn't matter. Anything he saw was his target. Nobody was hit.

The riot squad found Breen with a large supply of unused ammunition.

He explained to the police he had "just found the guns and the bullets in the room and I was disposing of them."

Breen was arraigned in Springfield District Court on a charge of drunkenness, released and immediately rearrested for carrying loaded revolvers.

'HOLY ROLLERS' DENY PRAYING FOR DEATH OF BOY

Gloucester, N. J., Aug. 8.—Testimony that leaders of the religious sect known as the "Holy Rollers" prayed outside her window that her son might die, thereby to impress upon the parents the apparent necessity of joining the sect, was given by Mrs. Louise Thompson in Police Court.

As a result members of the sect, including Mrs. Bertha Sheers, were held in bail charged with being public nuisances.

The defendants prayed continuously over an open Bible at the hearing. They denied they had asked for the death of the boy, but asserted that they had invoked divine aid for his recovery.

ACTRESS IN ROW AT CITY HOSPITAL AFTER COLLAPSE IN THEATRE

REMOVED BY FRIENDS WHO CHARGE ROOM CROWDED

Miss Nancy Decker, singer and dancer in the Frolics at the Shubert Theatre, collapsed in her dressing room as the curtain was about to rise and is now at a private hospital recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

Miss Decker, who is nineteen years old, was taken to City Hospital. Her friends protested, they said, against her being placed in a room crowded to its capacity, and after much argument she was rushed in a taxi to the Riverbank Hospital at No. 169 Bay State Road.

The actress attempted to perform against the advice of her physician, Dr. J. F. Du Valle. She was carried to a taxicab and the show was started.

Her friends declared that they told the hospital authorities they wanted to engage a nurse and a private room but were informed that the superintendent and the hospital central office force, who have charge of such arrangements, were not at the hospital in the evening.

It is a City Hospital regulation that a patient or friend must sign a paper stating that the patient refuses treatment and is discharged. The actors and actresses with Miss Decker refused to comply with this formality.

MILTON MAN HELD IN AUTO FATALITY

Taunton, Aug. 8. — Robert W. Lenox of Churchill st., Milton, was arraigned before Judge W. S. Woods charged with manslaughter, following the death of John J. Callahan, 10 years old, of Brockton, in the Goddard Hospital.

The boy was hit by an automobile of the defendant. Mr. Lenox pleaded not guilty and the case was continued until Aug. 14. He was released in bonds of $1,000.

TO COMB HAVERHILL FOR LOST PARENTS

Haverhill, Aug. 8.—Bert Raven, of Marion, Iowa, who has been seeking his parents for 17 years, is on his way to this city, a telegram received here stated. His parents disappeared from this city in 1906 and nothing was ever heard from them. What new information is bringing Raven to this city is not known.

Her friends defied regulations in removing her from City Hospital to another institution.

WARNED TO STAY OFF STAGE BY DOCTOR

Singer and dancer at local theatre now reported to be recovering from an operation for appendicitis. She attempted to perform despite her doctor's warning.

Curtain was about to rise when she succumbed to pain in her dressing room.

NANCY DECKER

SIGSBEE'S ESTATE VALUED AT $25,000

New York, Aug. 8.—The late Rear Admiral Charles Dwight Sigsbee, U. S. N., retired commander of the Maine when it was blown up in Havana harbor in 1898, left an estate of less than $25,000.

This was learned when the will was filed for probate here. Included in the estate are medals and honors of small intrinsic, but of great historical value, bestowed upon Admiral Sigsbee by foreign rulers.

There are also extensive notes of forty years of observations at sea, regarded as highly valuable by scientists.

K.C. HEAD DEFIES HIS CRITICS TO PROVE CLAIMS

Montreal, Que., Aug. 8.—Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty brought 400 delegates attending the 41st annual convention of the order to their feet amid enthusiastic applause when he declared that any man, whether within or without the order, who challenges the expenditure of forty million dollars entrusted to him and his subordinates must prove his case or abandon it.

J. A. Flaherty

"The law can be evoked to curb malicious lying," he said. "We have been over-patient with our slanderers. We shall not be so in the future."

Mr. Flaherty, in submitting his annual report to the delegates in the convention hall at the Mount Royal Hotel, scored his critics.

"We can tolerate reasonable differences of opinion," he said, "but we shall not tolerate reflections upon our integrity.

"In Canada the Knights have spent hundreds of thousands for welfare work. Every dollar has been devoted to its right purpose. Every remaining dollar is being devoted to that purpose as tens of thousands of ex-service men of all denominations receiving education under Knights of Columbus auspices can prove."

A resolution expressing sympathy on the death of President Harding was passed at opening of the convention, after which the delegates stood in silence one minute as a mark of respect.

BELLHOPS CHARGED WITH JAIL DELIVERY

Bangor, Me., Aug. 8—A wholesale arrest of local bellhops may occur, the authorities say, as a result of a jail delivery made at Newport. Alfred Sawyer, nineteen years old, bellhop in the Penobscot Exchange, was arrested at Newport, where he was attending a dance and his friends descended upon the jail late at night and broke in releasing him.

COPS ALMOST ARREST EACH OTHER IN CRASH

Two women were injured in a head-on collision between two automobiles, each operated by a policeman attached to the South Boston station, at D street and Dorchester avenue, South Boston. The policemen were about to arrest each other when they recognized themselves as brother cops.

Mary Fitzgerald, twenty years old, Connecticut avenue, Somerville, and her sister, Katherine, twenty-two years old, No. 17 Russell street, Charlestown, were riding with Patrolman Michael Curran, No. 66 Draper street, Dorchester, when his car collided with that of Patrolman Leon M. Randall, No. 317 Freeport street, Dorchester. The girls were thrown from the automobile and severely bruised. They were taken to the Carney Hospital, and later sent home.

The crash is said to have been caused by the glaring headlights of a large touring car, which blinded the two patrolmen.

CRIPPLE WALKS AT BAY STATE SHRINE

St. Albans, Vt., Aug. 8—Salvatore Cheradonna, of Bristol, a Central Vermont Railway laborer, died of injuries received when he fell from the bridge, south of the Nason street crossing. He was found by a fireman on a passing freight. Cheradonna was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition and failed to rally from his injuries.

DE VALERA TO MAKE FIGHT IN OPEN

Dublin, Aug. 8. (I.N.S.)—Eamon De Valera today announced his intention of playing an aggressive part in the political campaign which will end in a general election in the Free State the last week in August.

De Valera sent out word that he would "fight in the open."

His first meeting will be held at Ennis next Wednesday and he plans to hold a series of rallies after that date unless prevented by the Free State Government. It is not likely any effort will be made to interfere with his campaigning.

Parliament will be dissolved tonight.

FIND LOOT FROM NANTASKET AUTOS

Joseph Peroni, twenty-two years old of South street, Quincy, the police say, confessed to receiving stolen property from three Quincy boys who, it is alleged, looted automobiles at Nantasket Beach. Peroni was allowed to go to the home of a girl to whom he has presented a stolen wrist watch and it was recovered. A gentleman's watch, a gold chain and a gold knife was found in Peroni's room, the police say.

CONFIRM STORY OF BANKS IN COP'S MURDER

Lawrence, Aug. 8—While the police of New England were searching for Thomas Kirkland, alleged army deserter, in connection with the slaying of Patrolman Arthur J. Bowers, the Methuen police received a communication from the War Department confirming statements made by Barney Banks, local taxi driver, who is under arrest charged with murder.

Banks in his confession said that Kirkland, his "buddy" in the army, fired the shot that killed Bowers.

The War Department communication read: "Thomas H. Kirkland, of Kentucky, a private in the 12th United States Cavalry, is listed as a deserter from that regiment in 1921. His description was given as 'ruddy complexion, five feet eight inches in height.'"

Banks had described Kirkland and said they had done some burglaries in Texas in 1922.

FOUR ARRESTED IN RAID AT BILLERICA

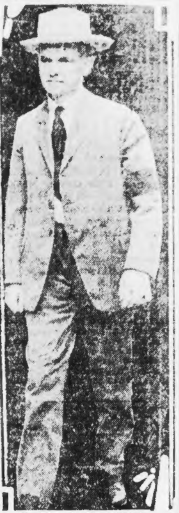
Coolidge on Stroll



President Coolidge likes a brisk walk. Here he is swinging down 'F' street in the capital's business district. He covered eight blocks before going home. Secret service men accompanied him, but 'Cal' set the pace. (Photo by International News Reel.)

R. I. MAN HELD AS BROTHER'S SLAYER

Providence, Aug. 8—John A. Buckley, No. 206 Chestnut street, was held without bail for action of the grand jury by Judge Rueckart in District Court, on the charge of murdering his brother, William B. Buckley, on the night of July 16.

Buckley waived examination, and was adjudged probably guilty.

He is alleged to have shot his brother at his home on Chestnut street, made arrangement for the removal of his brother to the hospital, and to have surrendered himself to the police. William died an hour after arriving at the hospital.

According to the story Buckley told the police, the shooting grew from a life-long hatred between the two brothers. William was declared to have been intoxicated the night he called at his brother's house, and to have provoked the latter by reminding him of boyhood encounters.

COOLIDGE GLAD SON FARMS TOBACCO

By GEORGE M. BATTEY, JR.
Universal Service

Washington, Aug. 8.—President Coolidge gave Washington a surprise by walking through the shopping district for thirteen minutes. To "stretch his legs" and breathe some air different from that which surrounds the Presidential Suite.

It was his first walk of the kind since he arrived as head of the nation.

For thirteen minutes Mr. Coolidge forgot the cares of his office by looking into inviting shop windows. He chatted good naturedly with five secret service men and a representative of Universal Service, and returned to his hotel without having caused a stir.

WEARS GRAY SUIT.

He wore a natty gray suit, with the three-inch mourning band on his left sleeve. He was further garbed in his Panama hat, a dark tie and black shoes of old-fashioned style.

From the street entrance to the Willard he stepped briskly into the thoroughfare. Less than 100 persons could be seen in a radius of a block. It was 7:30 o'clock. An automobile swung past the old Ebbitt House, the gathering place of Presidents in the old days but the driver did not recognize the distinguished pedestrian.

NEEDED EXERCISE.

The President was plainly in need of exercise after his sedentary existence of the last few days and the extra pressure of duties forced upon him by the Harding demise. He swung his arms, and there was a gratifying spring in his step.

In the middle of the first block they approached a haberdashery. After a brief inspection Mr. Coolidge proceeded down the thoroughfare.

"I enjoy looking into shop windows," he said, "they contain so many interesting things. I am especially interested in shoes. Boston used to be the world's largest shoe market, but I understand St. Louis now disputes the claim."

At Twelfth street an automobile came up from Pennsylvania avenue at a good clip. Mr. Coolidge started to cross in front of it, but was restrained.

"What do you hear from the boys?" the President was asked. "The Democratic demeanor of your sons has made a hit with the people."

TALKS OF CAL, JR.

"Well, I am glad to hear it," the President replied. "Quite a while ago I called up a friend who has some tobacco fields near Northampton and asked if he could put Calvin to work. He said to send the lad around and he would see what he could do. When Calvin sang himself to sleep that night I knew he had landed the job, and was extremely happy over it."

JUDGES BEGIN TASK OF PICKING MOST CHARMING GIRL IN HUB

ENTRIES CLOSE; HUNDREDS COMPETING FOR HONORS

The winner of the Boston American's CHARMING GIRL tournament will be known tomorrow night. Entries closed at noon today.

The task of selecting 25 photographs from the hundreds that have been sent in began shortly after the closing hour. The girls whose photographs were chosen by the judges will be notified either by telephone or telegram to appear at the studio of John H. Garo, at No. 739 Boylston street, at 3.30 p. m. tomorrow for final inspection.

NOTED JUDGES SERVE

Three of the most prominent artists in this country and another leader in the American world of art comprises the board of judges. They are John H. Garo, generally known among the profession as "Jack" Garo; Wilbur Dean Hamilton, Frederick Wallace and Frank R. Fraperie. Mr. Garo is chairman of the board.

It would be difficult to assemble a superior group of judges than the one that will pick the winner of the American's tournament for the free trip to Atlantic City with all expense paid for one week.

Mr. Garo is regarded as the leading portrait photographer in this country and his paintings are equally good. His portraits of the late President Theodore Roosevelt and the beloved Rev. Edward Everett Hale are without question the finest they have ever had taken. The same may b said of his portrait of President Emeritus Eliot of Harvard University. His studio is the gathering place of leading artists, sculptors and writers. It is one of the most artistic spots in Boston.

LEADS IN PROFESSION.

Mr. Hamilton is head of the department of drawing and painting of Massachusetts Normal Art School, graduate of Beaux Arts and a remarkable portrait painter. He is regarded as a leader in his profession. Frederick Wallace is a teacher at the same institution and one of the most promising of the young painters. His work is distinctive.

Mr. Fraperie is the editor of The American Photographic Magazine, one of the oldest and leading publications of its class in the United States. He is a member of the Royal Society of Photographers of England and a man of unusual ability in matters relating to art.

MERIT COUNTS.

The choice of these leaders in the world of art as judges means but one thing—that the girl who goes to Atlantic City for a week's free outing will be selected solely on merit. Absolutely no favoritism will be shown to any candidate.

Among the recent entries were Miss Ruth McCarron of Roxbury, Miss Genevieve A. Steele of Belmont and Miss Frances McCarron of Dorchester. The latter recently won a beauty contest and was termed "Miss Mattapan." Her friends hope she will be given the larger title of "Miss Boston" and represent this city as "Queen of the Hub" at the spectacular Fall pageant in Atlantic City which begins September 5.

Not only will the winner's expenses be paid but those of her mother or other chaperon, too. It's going to be SOME trip.

FRANCE'S 'K. K. K.' WORK UNMASKED

Paris, Aug. 8.—The Camelots du Roi—the nearest approach to the Ku Klux Klan in France—carry heavy canes and large bottles of castor oil instead of tar and feathers, which they start out to demonstrate to some of the citizens of France the "error" of their ways.

It is against the Camelots principles to mask, and for that reason several members of the organization, who were identified while beating or 'castoroiling" their political foes recently, have been convicted and sentenced to jail.

THEY WILL PICK WINNER

RAIN HOLDS UP CAMP DEVENS TRAINING

Camp Devens, Aug. 8.—New England youths at the Citizens' Military Training Camp were treated to real French wartime weather when a heavy downpour of rain flooded the grounds and halted all military activities.

Students spent the afternoon at the Liberty Theatre, where an instructive picture of military training at West Point was shown. Following the show, the "real" students attended a lecture by Captain Fred Hall Thomas, known in pugilistic circles as "Freddie Welsh," former lightweight champion.

A fire in several deserted barns was soon extinguished with the combined efforts of the firemen and the students.

For five years she had been unable to walk despite several operations, until she and her husband visited the shrine. Mrs. Flynn said she felt sharp pains passing through her legs after kissing the image, and after rising from her chair took 12 steps unassisted to the statue, threw her arms around it and thanked God.

Upon returning from the shrine to the church she took four more steps, and when she arrived at her home here took five more. The next day she called in neighbors and they saw her take six more steps.

MASTERS IGNORE FREAK DANCE STEPS

New York, Aug. 8.—Convinced that "prohibition creates a desire for the thing prohibited," the International Association of Dancing Masters, in convention here, decided not to ban the "Shimmy Lock," the "Bunny Grip" and other steps deemed objectionable, but to do them to death by substituting a new dance.

Instructors gave exhibitions of the "Pel-Cora", which blends the Tango, Maxixe and other steps.

PETITION TO CLOSE NANTASKET SALOON

Assistant United States Attorney Elihu O. Stone filed a petition in the United States District Court asking that the near-beer saloon on the premises of the Oakland House at Nantasket Beach be closed up by the United States marshal as a common nuisance. Prohibition agents seized 850 bottles of beer and some liquor during a recent raid on the near-beer saloon.

STATE TO OPPOSE WARD CASE PETITION

Newburgh, N. Y., Aug. 8.—Supreme Court Justice Seegar announced that he was satisfied he has jurisdiction to hear arguments on the motion of Isaac N. Mills, counsel for Walter S. Ward, indicted for the murder of Clarence Peters, for permission to inspect the minutes of the Grand Jury which returned the indictment. He set next Monday as the date for the arguments.

W. S. Ward

Thomas J. O'Neill, representing Attorney-General Sherman, said he intended to oppose the motion for several reasons, particularly, he declared, because the wife, father and brother of the defendant, as well as two maids formerly employed in the household and who were wanted as witnesses, had been sent out of the State.

Worcester's Oldest Bootlegger Gets Clemency

Worcester, Aug. 8. — Samuel Shine, seventy-four years old, of Harding street, has the reputation now of being the oldest man to ever appear in Central District Court here charged with bootlegging.

Liquor officers testified that Shine had sold a pint to one of their squad as he stood in a shady doorway on Water street.

He admitted the charge and told the court he would never sell again if given the chance. He was given two months in the House of Correction and fined $50. Then the sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation.

JUMPS TO DEATH ON PLYMOUTH BOAT

Plymouth, Aug. 8—Daniel Collins of Hingham jumped to his death from the deck of the Boston boat before hundreds of spectators as the steamship was about to dock here.

Men on board the ship vainly attempted to rescue the drowning man. The Plymouth police resumed dragging for the body today.

Collins is a brother of Jeremiah Collins, traffic manager of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company in the South Shore district.

COUNTESS SUES MATE FOR MAINTAINANCE

Philadelphia, Aug. 8—A French countess appealed to the courts here to compel her German husband to support her. Sobbing, Countess Maxoine Forgole, accused her husband Max Bohnacker, an interpreter in a banking house, of striking and frequently deserting her. The judge ordered Bohnacker to pay his wife $25 a week. Bohnacker is the second husband of the French noblewoman.

G. O. P. LEADERS ARE AVERSE TO EXTRA SESSION

Washington, Aug. 8—President Coolidge was deluged with advice from party associations against calling an extra session of Congress and against the World Court.

Senators and Representatives and other political personages who poured into the Capitol for the Harding funeral ceremonies took occasion to express their views on these questions.

Mr. Coolidge with characteristic taciturnity proved a good listener, but a poor talker. Not one of his callers ventured to assert afterward that the President had definitely committed himself on any question.

EXPECT NO CALL.

All of those who urged against the proposal for an extra session of Congress to legislate for the relief of the farmers, however, came out with the distinct impress that the Congressional vacation will continue until the date for the convening of the regular session in December.

Confidence was asserted that the law-making body will not be summoned to meet in advance of that time unless there should develop some unforseen emergency necessitating that action.

No effort whatever was made by the President's visitors to interpret his attitude towards the World Court proposal. It became known, however, that Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, outstanding irreconcilable, who spent two hours with the President Sunday afternoon, had informed some of his colleagues that he had a "very satisfactory" talk with the executive.

SENATOR LODGE CALLED.

Senator Lodge, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee and Republican floor leader, was another caller who was understood to have broached the subject of the court to the President. The Senator declined to discuss what took place on that point when he left the presidential suite.

Senator "Jim" Watson of Indiana mentioned the subject at his conference with the President. Asked what view Mr. Coolidge took ,he said:

"The President said nothing. You know how I feel about it."

Further interest was aroused in President Coolidge's likely stand on the World Court and foiregn affairs in general when it was made known that he had summoned Colonel George Harvey, Ambassador to Great Britain, now in this country, to a conference.

Among the others who saw the President were: Representatives Paige and Winslow of Massachusetts; Senator Edge of New Jersey, and Mrs. Edge; Senator Fess of Ohio; Chief Justice Taft and Senator Edwards of New Jersey.

TUBERCULOSIS SERUM BACKED BY $650,000

Manchester, Eng., Aug. 8.—More than $650,000 has been appropriated to promote the Spahlinger treatment for tuberculosis in this country. Lancashire County has allowed $500,000, and the British Red Cross $150,000.

The Spahlinger treatment is a serum treatment, followed by a vaccine treatment. The serum fights the poisons set up by the bacilli and eliminates them from the system, and the vaccine treatment follows, to make the patient resistant to the bacilli themselves.

The serum is secured from high-bred horses, who have been injected with toxins. The excess of antidotes which they produce after successfully fighting the disease is taken by bleeding.

M. Spahlinger is not actually a medical man. He began his training as a doctor, but soon turned to bacteriology.

TRAIN DELAYED BY SOUVENIR HUNTERS

By JAMES R. NOURSE
Universal Service

On Board Harding Funeral Train, Aug 8.—The great outpouring of humanity continued throughout the day as the train bearing the remains of Warren G. Harding passed through cities and towns.

Little mill factory towns sent their quotas to pay tribute to the nation's dead leader. They crowded on the tracks and about the coaches, endangering their lives. It was impossible to rush the train through that mass of humanity.

Mrs. Harding bore bravely, as she has done since the death of her distinguished husband. The heat was terrific, a heavy strain on all members of the party.

The heaviest loss of time was in Chicago Monday night. It was due in part to souvenir hunters. Boys and girls persisted in laying copper and silver coins on the tracks to be flattened by the wheels.

This souvenir hunting game was started when the train reached the western suburbs of Chicago and was continued through thirty-five miles of the city. More than once the train was stopped with a jerk because some tardy person was placing coins on the rails. Several narrowly escaped being hit by the engine.

In other places women crowded close to the train in an effort to snatch flowers from the great collection of floral pieces massed in the baggage car, the windows of which were open.

The delay was distressing to Mrs. Harding who was especially desirous of reaching Washington in daylight. At her request efforts were made by railroad officials to make up some of the lost time.

As the train proceeded through Indiana and Ohio hundreds of people lined the right of way, even in obscure rural districts they had slept on the ground until the train approached, then stood respectfully silent as it passed into the night.

PUBLIC MEMORIAL AT HAVERHILL

NOT ONE, BUT MANY DIVING VENUSES ARE IN THIS GROUP

Trim figured girls, students at Harvard Summer School, snapped by a Boston American photographer as they were discussing means to capture prizes for high diving, swimming, rowing and other forms of aquatic sports at today's carnival on the historic Charles. Who said anything about Lynn Beach? If anyone did, we will say that here is the "Trail to Paradise."

HARVARD CO-EDS TIP OVER

Summer School Maids Were Preparing for Today's Regatta on Charles

A slight gust of wind, an inconsiderate ripple, and the fair female occupants of two rowing shells were precipitated into the Charles River amid sundry shrieks and splashings. However, no casualties were suffered by the would-be marine experts, so it all passed off with laughs and a wetting.

The contestants were shown correct methods of resuscitating persons.

The float was jammed with a crowd of would-be [illegible] breakers clad in a weird [illegible] of multi-colored bathing suits, some of which would cause a riot on [illegible] Lynn's famous beaches.

The regatta scheduled for yesterday, was held over for a day on account of examinations. It is expected that those who have entered will be able to take part under the [illegible] arrangement.

There will be singles and canoe race for men, as well as a diving event and 50 and 100 yard swims. The girls have a singles, wherry and comp shell events, with 25 and 50 yard swims.

Entered so far in the [illegible] event for women are [illegible] Greve of Cincinnati, Florence [illegible] of Brookline and Miss [illegible] The girls have worked faithfully [illegible]

So far there are only two entries in the wherry race, Sally Reed and Helen Wachtel, the former also being down to row in the "comp" race. Miss Cahill and Miss [illegible] have entered the 25 yard dash and Miss Merrill the high dive.

SHE WED IN SECRET AND LET NEWS OUT

DR. AND MRS. THOMAS P. KENDRICK

The City Hospital surgeon says his bride broke her solemn promise [illegible] when she announced [illegible] their wedding ten weeks ago. She was Miss Mildred Prouse of Malone, N. Y.

REVEALED SECRET WEDDING

Dr. Kendrick Believes She Told the News Because of Jealousy

Dr. Thomas P. Kendrick of Brookline, graduate of Harvard Medical School and surgeon on the City Hospital staff, was greatly amazed when he learned his secret bride had disclosed their marriage, which took place ten weeks ago.

The sudden announcement by the bride, who was Miss Mildred Marion Prouse of Malone, N. Y., has cause a rift in the Kendricks' marital happiness because the young husband declares she broke her solemn promise [illegible]

Dr. Kendrick [illegible] denied [illegible] City Hospital [illegible] He can [illegible] except unfounded [illegible] of his wife.

Dr. Kendrick was a notable athlete [illegible] high [illegible] and at Catholic [illegible] in Washington, D. C. [illegible] Malone summer [illegible] 1921 he met Miss [illegible]

SOLEMN PROMISE

[illegible] I made her solemn promise never to tell a soul [illegible] become unreasoning [illegible] see no reason why [illegible] promise. I will wire [illegible] to find out her reason.

"She probably told her mother [illegible] father and he perhaps [illegible] to publish it, but even that does not excuse her announcing it without notifying me. I knew nothing of the announcement until told by the American, and not one person in Boston, not even my parents in Brookline, even suspected that we have been married all this time.

"Mildred and I have been separated, although deeply in love, since almost the very hour of our marriage. She wrote regularly until just a few days ago and I have been wondering at her silence."

Dr. Kendrick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kendrick of Brookline. He was graduated from medical school in June, 1922, and served an interneship at Parker Hill Hospital.

Mrs. Kendrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Prouse of Malone, is prominent in the younger social set in that district of the Adirondacks. She was graduated from St. Joseph's Ursuline Academy in 1918 and from New Rochelle Girls' College in 1922.

GASOLINE PRICE DENOUNCED AS ROBBERY

Pierre, S. D., Aug. 8 (A. P.)—Governor W. H. McMaster issued orders to the State supply depot at Mitchell to sell gasoline to the public at 16 cents a gallon, terming the price of gasoline in South Dakota as "highway robbery."

Charging that the Standard Oil Company was reaping nearly 100 per cent profit on its price of 26 cents a gallon, the governor urged each community to take action looking toward the purchase of gasoline in carload lots in order to bring down to 16 cents a gallon in all parts of South Dakota.

"Gasoline can be purchased in carload lots F. O. B. in various parts of the State at approximately 14 cents per gallon," Governor McMaster said in a formal statement, "and yet the retail price over the State today averages 26 cents per gallon. This shows a profit of nearly 100 per cent., which is unreasonable, unfair and unjust.

"The records show that during the last year and a half in the State of South Dakota 67,000,000 gallons of gasoline were consumed. There has been an excessive profit on an average of ten cents per gallon on this total amount, making approximately $6,000,000 to $7,000,000 excess profits taken from the people of this State. This is no more or less than highway robbery."

Whitinsville, Aug. 8.—Roland Vernette, sixteen years old, a machinist's apprentice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Vernette, No. 34 C street, this city, was killed in an automobile accident on Lynwood avenue. As the truck drew up to the bicycle, the bicycle suddenly swerved directly into the path of the truck. The truck passed over Vernette's head.

Gas Price Here Is Lower Than for Many Years

Gasoline is selling at a practically standard price of 23 cents which is lower than it has been for years. At two of the well-known gas stations in the city there are free oil coupons given away with every five-gallon sale of gas. There are stations which have what are known as premium days when they give away oil with the sale of gas. The price of oil ranges from 20 to 30 cents.

Mrs. Margaret S. Barnes, Fagan place, Peabody, has petitioned the Salem Probate Court for a writ of habeas corpus requiring Miss Lucy M. Phillips, said to live in Boston, to produce her natural daughter, Barbara Phillips, one year old, in the court.

According to the police, Miss Phillips called to see the baby, given into the custody of Mrs. Barnes by court order on January 12, last, and kidnaped the child while Mrs. Barnes was absent.

Miss Phillips, a State charge, was accompanied by State Nurse Aurora H. Hill, No. 52 Westland avenue, who had been instructed by Miss Flora F. Burton, supervisor of the State Board of Charities, to accompany Miss Phillips on her visit to the baby.

According to Anna, Mrs. Barnes' stepdaughter, Miss Phillips snatched the child from the floor, hailed a passing motorist and persuaded him to take her and the infant to Boston. Miss Phillips later surrendered the custody of the infant to the State.

RUM SMUGGLED INTO HUB WITH AIRPLANE AID

[illegible] extensively by [illegible]

[illegible] Scotch was retailing at [illegible] No. 1 a whiskey [illegible] to connoisseurs [illegible] selling at $10. Irish whiskey was [illegible] $12.

Two planes are used [illegible] reports. One is supposed to sail from Hull or [illegible] The other is from another town.

The planes are used not only to carry [illegible] scout duty. Only a small amount can be loaded aboard the airships so the runners prefer to use [illegible] boats for carriers.

However, the planes have proved of great value [illegible] revenue officers. [illegible] Boston rum runners hire the air pilot to do scout duty for them when they are about to land a cargo from one of the rum ships just beyond the three mile limit.

In the last two weeks the aviator scouts have assisted in the landing of something like 700 cases of Scotch, Irish and rye whiskey and virtually all of this came ashore near Scituate, Provincetown and Plymouth.

One notorious Boston "con man" worked the old trick of posing as a revenue officer and seizing a truck pulling out of Plymouth for Boston with twenty-four cases of John Dewar Scotch.

This entire cargo was later sold at $90 a case among stock brokers on State street by the fake revenue officer in two days. The truck was later returned to its owner, said to be a South Boston man, who has been identified with rum-runners for a long time.

Manila—Julian Wolfson, a local attorney, has field suit here in behalf of the "Russian Socialist Federated Republic," for recovery of eleven Russian ships in which several hundred refugees under Admiral Stark came here in January.

SUN AND MOON PULL

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

IT is greatly to your credit [illegible] wherever you are [illegible] explanations [illegible] yourself [illegible]

The reason why the tide does not keep [illegible] under the moon as the moon travels around the earth is that the [illegible] rotation of the earth on its axis [illegible] water past the line joining the centres of the two bodies before the [illegible] force has time to exert its full effect. By the time that this effect has attained a maximum the tidal crest is far away from the moon.

The time of high tide at any given place is also governed by the [illegible] the tidal wave has to take [illegible] the shore outlines. [illegible] varies for different [illegible] and [illegible] called "the establishment of the port," meaning [illegible] of hours after the [illegible] of the meridian [illegible] at that port.

Quickly Relieved by Wincarnis

"For several years I had been in a weak and run down condition. I had frequent fainting spells which always left me almost completely exhausted. I suffered so with nervousness that the least little thing would make me jump and it got to be almost impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. I would get terrible fits of depression which would last for days. I had taken doctors' medicines and tonics without number, but nothing seemed to do me much good.

I saw Wincarnis advertised and decided to try a bottle. In an incredibly short time I got back my strength, my nervousness disappeared and I could sleep as peacefully as a child. I really believe Wincarnis is the greatest of all tonics.

You will find also that with Kolor-Bak the hair has the same shade throughout. It does not appear streaked, faded or "dyed."

Every scientist, every physician, knows that gray hair is hair that has ceased to receive its normal supply of coloring matter or pigment from certain tiny organs (called follicles or papillae) in the scalp, because these organs have become inactive from illness, shock of some kind, scalp disease, dandruff, infection, neglect of the hair, or lack of circulation, etc. But no matter what the cause of the grayness, it is simply amazing to see how it disappears when Kolor-Bak is used. It is a real substitute for the natural pigmentation.

LECTURETTE

The world is out of breath getting into short pants. Father Knickerbocker is taking Adam's place and a pair of trousers is worth two pairs of knickers, but only costs half as much.

Everybody's getting short-changed and conductors are so confused as to when is a half fare not a half fare that they are beginning to collect by the leg. One conductor made a fortune when he collected from a centipede.

Old men are in their second boyhood and a boy becomes a man now by taking off his longies and putting on his shorties. Truant officers arrested three grandfathers and a Senator the other day by mistake.

Golfless golf is all the rage and a bowlegged man is out of luck. One fellow is so bowlegged that every time he goes in a golf suit he has to [illegible] between his stockings. Another bowlegger is in vaudeville. He crosses his legs and imitates a pair of woolen scissors. And still another bowlegged chap was visited by an inspector from the department of buildings, who insisted upon propping him up.

Then there are some men who are so knockkneed that it's an awful wear and tear on their golf stockings. One of these fellows straightens things out by carrying his golf clubs in his stockings, while another prefers to wear corsets on his legs.

One stockmaker got a hole in [illegible] he has stumbled on a [illegible] at the [illegible]. He says [illegible] nuisances.

Baseball Notes.

"What do right-handed batters fear the most?" inquires an expert. Strawberry blondes in most cases.

IF YOU WANT THINGS, REMEMBER THAT GOOD FORTUNE REQUIRES INDUSTRY.

Is it not true that you think more about and wish harder for the attainment of desires that are not necessary to your life than you do for some of your absolute needs?

When your mind wanders do you not hope for things way beyond your reach, and are you not foolish to hope to possess them?

Comparatively little thought is given to you wishing for things that you might have if you were willing to do the necessary work and give the required time and thought.

There is too much just wishing for things to come to you, in fact it is one of your serious faults.

You cannot figure out how they will come, but you day dream on [illegible] and feel that the unexpected has [illegible].

Most [illegible] do not wish to do the things that are required to possess them.

Once in a while some person just sits still and fortune falls into his or her lap, but there are few such cases.

Fortune demands ardent, active, industrious wooing.

FINANCE AND TRADE

By EDWIN J. CLAPP

Wall street will be interested in the latest plans for the development of the water powers on the St. Lawrence. These plans provide for the creation of an international semi-public corporation, similar in principle to the New York Port Authority. The new corporation will undertake the canalization of the St. Lawrence and the development of 1,300,000 horsepower at the Long Sault rapids along the international boundary. The cost will be approximately $252,000,000.

Fred D. Corey, president of the Niagara, Lockport and Ontario Power Company, stood on a [illegible] monotory of Sheek Island in the St. Lawrence River, opposite Cornwall, and, pointing to the rushing Long Sault waters below, told his hearers that they represented the nation's greatest spectacle of waste.

Between Ogdensburg and the eastern end of the international boundary, he said, [illegible] kilowatt-hours of electric energy annually would be produced if the river were harnessed. That was over three times New York City's consumption of electricity last year. It is likewise three times the 4.2 billion kilowatt-hours developed on both sides the boundary at Niagara. The utilization of this waste water power, he said, would save the need for burning [illegible] tons of coal per year.

• • •

In the meantime the American and Canadian governments, through the engineers of the standing International Joint Commission, have prepared a plan for the canalization of the St. Lawrence so as to let the big Lake boats go down to tidewater at Montreal.

The plans provide for a series of lock-dams, one of them at the Long Sault, where a huge power plant will be built and 1,460,000 H. P. produced. Used 7,000 of the 8,670 hours of the year, this plant could sell 7,700 billion kilowatt-hours. The cost of the whole project, including the power plant, is estimated at $252,000,000, based on 1921 prices. Private engineers say it could be built cheaper now.

The American government, urged on by the western proponents of the St. Lawrence Navigation project, has made overtures to Canada to agree on beginning the work. The Canadian government is willing but financially embarrassed at present.

So the Canadian and American interests insistent upon the waterway have evolved the plan of a quasi-public corporation, chartered by the two governments to construct and operate the power plant and the navigation works all down the St. Lawrence.

The corporation would issue bonds for funds to do the work and reimburse itself by revenue from the sale of power and by the collection from the two governments of annual interest, amortization and operating expenses properly allocable to navigation. That is, the power would need to carry only the cost of work done to create power. It is figured that this would divide the $252,000,000 cost into 60 per cent. power and 40 per cent. navigation.

• • •

On that basis the power could be sold profitably at 1.5 mills per kilowatt-hour on the bus-bar on the St. Lawrence and delivered in New York City at 5 mills.

The big electric interests are said to be enthusiastic about the project and optimistic about the ease with which the corporation could secure contracts to sell its power at prices which would assure the bonds a ready sale.

If this plan goes through, it will probably result in the formation of another great quasi-public corporation, a $75,000,000 transmission company to take that power from the St. Lawrence and deliver it to the public utilities in New York City and up-State. Anyone can see the enormous business that will result to the General Electric and Westinghouse from this huge development.

• • •

The western farmer is told he could get his grain to tidewater and hence to the world's markets 5 cents per bushel cheaper if the St. Lawrence were opened for big ships clear through to the sea. That means 5 cents a bushel more for wheat on his farm.

The Western interests are tired of waiting for public and private power people. They are tired of waiting for Canada to get rich enough to float her share of the $252,000,000 bonds. So they have devised a plan which they say will suit Canada's needs and will keep the St. Lawrence power out of the hands of the uncontrolled private interests.

The plan here described is not a mere scheme. It is a project being worked out in all its financial details.

LEATHERS ARE SOLD AT NEW YEAR'S LOW

Prices were mixed today in the New York stock market, with a steady tone displayed from the start.

The "weak sisters" were the leathers, in which earnings have been poor or absent for some time. American Hide & Leather preferred and Central Leather sold at their lowest since 1915, both off more than 2 points. Central Leather preferred dropped 2½ to a new record low.

Burns Bros. "A" dropped over 1 points to a new 1923 bottom. Allied Chemical's weakness continued with a drop of more than a point to a fresh low. Marine preferred sagged a point and thereby set a new 1923 low.

Chicago & Northwestern led the rails up 2 points. Other changes in the carriers were mostly fractional gains. Delaware & Hudson added better than a point.

Mack Truck continued to demonstrate strength, up a point. Western Union and Westinghouse advanced a point or better.

Pan-American "A" was off a point.

The New York Stock, Consolidated and Curb Exchanges suspended business from 11 o'clock this morning until 12:30 p.m. as a mark of respect during the Harding funeral services in Washington.

The New York Cotton Exchange and other markets also suspended during the period of the services.

Bank officers announced that only necessary business would be transacted during the hour of the funeral services.

WHEAT IS HIGHER IN GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Aug. 8.—The government report had but small effect on grain prices today. Wheat was a little higher, corn a little lower and oats about unchanged. At Liverpool wheat was ⅛ to ¼ pence higher at two o'clock. Here wheat opened ⅛ to ¾ cents higher, but met with scattered selling on the upturn and reacted. Trade was light and mixed, within a narrow range.

Late prices were: Wheat—September 97⅛ to ⅞, December 100⅛ to ¼, May, 106⅛ to ¼; Corn—September 76½ to ⅝, December 62⅝, May 64½; Oats—September 35, December 37¼, May 40; Rye—September 64, December 67¼, May 71.

IRON CAP COPPER EARNINGS LOWER

Iron Cap Copper Co. notice to stockholders says: "During the second quarter of 1923 the production was 1,540,179 pounds of copper, 18,132 ounces of silver and 181 ounces of gold. Income for the quarter was $196,608; expenses for the quarter $168,857; profit $27,751.

"There has been but slight difference in the monthly rate of production, and the decline in earnings from those of the last quarter is because of the lower prices for copper and silver, coupled with a higher wage rate."

Most of this year they have been selling fractionally above par. KELSEY MOTOR.

To K. L. T., Congress street.—Reorganization of Kelsey Motor Company was approved several months ago by the United States District Court and plans were made to take the company out of receivership. A successor company was incorporated under the laws of Delaware in May and stockholders were given an opportunity to exchange their shares for stock in the new company. We should not be tempted to advance any additional funds to continue the speculation, but if no payment is required in the exchange there appears to be no reason why you should not retain your interest in the company.

INVESTMENTS.

To Y. B., Dakota street—Neither United States Steel common stock nor Bolivian 8s is the kind of investment, a person in your circumstances should take. We agree with you that Steel common is an exceptional stock, in that the company has a good surplus and the management is apparently committed to the policy of paying the regular dividend rate even in periods when nothing is earned. The yield on this stock at a price of 90 barring any expectations of extra dividend is approximately what many good bonds will give and less than what the average sound preferred stock returns. Of course there is a difference in the certainty that neither most preferred stocks nor bonds come in for extra disbursements.

We believe you should confine yourself to good preferred stocks but if they are not satisfactory you might consider a common stock like American Telephone and Telegraph, General Electric or Westinghouse Electric, Southern California Edison 5 per cent cumulative participating preferred stock might also seem attractive to you. This stock participates in disbursements above the regular rate, and is at present receiving 8 per cent. It is selling around 116 and would give you an attractive yield. Bonds usually are paid off at par. When called before maturity a premium is usually paid.

CALIFORNIA EDISON.

To I. N. N., Hawley street.—Meeting of stockholders of Southern California Edison Company has been called for September 7 to vote on increasing capital stock from $100,000,000 to $250,000,000, new authorization to consist of $4,000,000 original preferred, $60,000,000 series "A" 7 per cent. preferred, $40,000,000 series B 6 per cent. preferred, $21,000,000 5 per cent. preferred and $125,000,000 common.

It is proposed to increase authorized bonded debt to $250,000,000, with interest rates, maturities and other terms to be fixed by directors. Under existing regulations no bonded debt can be created maturing later than 1944.

U. S. DOLLAR IN BIG DEMAND IN EUROPE

By Cosmopolitan News Service.

New York, Aug. 8.—With German marks practically worthless and other mid-European currencies very unstable, the American dollar today bids fair to become the medium of exchange in various European countries.

A New York bank today filled an order for $1,000,000 in $5 and $10 Federal Reserve notes, to be shipped abroad. The Europeans want to convert their holdings into something which will have a real value months ahead.

"Poland has issued a decree prohibiting use of American money in order to bolster her own currency," said Daniel Frothingham, business manager of the American Express Company.

"But our money leaks in. Large shipments go forward daily to Danzig, Petrograd, Helsingfors and to German cities. A premium is paid for Federal reserve notes bearing the words 'Washington, D. C.' An American banker just returned from abroad said he saw United States bank notes circulating in Albania."

A. F. Egelhoff, banker, said the foreign exchange business to Central European nations was almost dead owing to fluctuations in such currencies.

APPEAL TO U. S. ON COLOR LINE IN FRANCE

Paris, Aug. 8 (I.N.S.)—Refusal of American tourists to extend the hand of fellowship to French negroes reached diplomatic channels today. Though the controversy did not proceed far in that direction it reached the front pages of Parisian newspapers and has become the chief topic of conversation in the American colony.

A representative of the Echo de Paris asked the American embassy whether it was planned to issue a statement to Americans in France that under the French law negroes are entitled to full and equal rights with other citizens. The embassy has taken no action.

Proceedings were begun against the proprietor of an all-night dancing establishment in the Mont Martre in which African negroes were ejected allegedly at the request of American patrons who objected to their presence.

The entire situation was brought to a head by the protests to Premier Poincare by three negroes, members of the Chamber of Deputies that citizens of their color are being discriminated against for the purpose of pleasing American tuorists.

Proprietors of pleasure resorts are facing a difficult situation.

Police threaten to close all establishments that discriminate against negroes and those that admit them to full privileges face the loss of rich American trade.

Moro-Giaferri, attorney for the "Blue Beard" Landru, is representing Prince Georges and Prince Marc Tavalon, the negroes ejected from a Mont Martre dance hall in their efforts to recover damage. Both are Sorbonne graduates.

Georges is a lawyer and Tavalon a physician.

FITZGERALD IS CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald will again seek the Democratic nomination for Governor next year, he announced today.

J. F. Fitzgerald.

"I have no idea who is behind the rumor now current that I should again enter the mayoralty fight," he said.

Mr. Fitzgerald stated that he would be interested to learn of any reasons which Mayor Curley might care to advance as to why he (Fitzgerald) should not again be the Democratic choice for Governor.

He declared that precedent and fairness both demanded that he be given another chance, particularly in view of the fact that he polled 404,000 votes last fall, which was only a couple of thousand less than the vote of Colonel Gaston for United States Senator.

"Cox was elected by the Republican women voters," he said, "and I was defeated by the lack of registration and voting among the Democratic women of the State.

"If President Coolidge gets the nomination of his party, the situation in Massachusetts may be somewhat more complicated. But even with that handicap the Democrats can carry the State if they can catch up with the Republicans in the matter of registration. With Senator Walsh taking the lead next Fall, I look for a Democratic victory."

FLEA AND BEDBUG

These are two of the worst and most tormenting pests that humanity has to contend with. The person who has played host to the flea or bedbug can vouch for this. I wouldn't be surprised if the wriggling of a person with a flea on them didn't give the first idea to the contortionist to emulate their example. "David Harum" says that fleas are good for dogs as it keeps them from thinking about being a dog." I don't know but if the same idea might not apply to human beings. It may show them the blessing of being fleaIess. With bedbugs it is a little more dangerous as the bite of these pests may inoculate the victim with disease as well as cause annoyance.

It is well to remember that whether you are bothered with fleas or bedbugs Martin's Powders will relieve you of their unwelcome presence if you use it. The powder is easily applied, is odorless and safe. There is a distinct powder for fleas, and another for bedbugs. In fact there are eleven different kinds of Martin's Powder, so it is always advisable to specify when ordering. Sold by all drug and department stores in New England for 60c and $1.20 per can, 65c and $1.30 by mail. Send money order, check or cash with mail orders. Postage rates vary according to postal zones. Case of Henry Lambert

In Prison for Twenty Years, Convicted of a Murder He Did Not Commit

In 1903, twenty years ago, Henry Lambert was convicted of murdering J. Wesley Allen, his wife and his fifteen-year-old daughter, Alice. The State of Maine does not inflict capital punishment for the crime of murder, so Henry Lambert was sent to State prison for life.

Now, twenty years afterwards, the Governor pardons him because evidence has been discovered which proves his innocence.

Lambert, after twenty years of prison life, caged like a wild animal, considered by his relatives and friends to be a murderer, pointed out to visitors as a murderer, is a free man.

Can anyone envision the mental torture of that man during those twenty years? Put yourself in his place and consider your suffering from the time you were arrested and publicly charged with being a murderer. Consider how you would feel when the jail door closed on you and you spent your first night in a narrow cell, alone with your thoughts—innocent, but charged by your government with murder. Can you imagine how you would feel when you thought of your friends and your relatives, of the whole world and of what they thought of you?

Imagine yourself dragged to the courtroom day after day to sit there in a prisoner's cage—the object of all eyes, listening to evidence which was damning you and to the prosecutor's attacks upon you; to the judge's charge; to the jury's verdict of "Guilty" and to the judge's sentence.

Think of the ride back to the jail and the click of the prison door of the murderer's cell. Think of the first day after conviction in that little cell when you knew that in all probability you were to pass the remainder of your life in that dark place, without friends, without a single ray of light.

Think of your suffering every day when you were wondering what the world outside was doing; when an occasional newspaper told you of the joys of freedom and its honors and privileges, while you were passing your life in a living death, and yet innocent all the time.

This is what the mistake of the government causes. This is the natural, inevitable result of the operation of the institutions of erring humanity. There is nothing that human beings are called upon to do that is not subject to error, because "too err is human."

But now comes another tragedy. The innocent man is found to be innocent. The Governor pardons him. His prison clothes are removed, and this is what the State does for him—the great rich State which has tortured him for twenty years, severed all his connections with society, destroyed all his friendships and destroyed the best years of his life and left him clear out of the stream of progress.

This is the compensation that the State, which has done everything it could to him except to kill him, makes for its awful blunder. It gives him a new suit of cheap clothes and a crisp five-dollar bill and sends him into the world, a broken, lonely man!

And this is a civilized State, two thousand years after the birth of Christ and after two thousand years of Christianity! We suppose that some clergyman gave Lambert his blessing as he fared forth and told him not to mind this brutal world, for his recompense would be great in that Heaven over which the human race has quarreled and disputed for more than ten thousand years.

It is reported that Lambert fared forth from the prison walls smiling. He probably was rejoicing to think that his life, at least, was spared, for in Massachusetts, and New York, and Illinois, and Georgia, and Maryland, and Michigan, and California, and Wisconsin and Washington, and in most of the other States, he would have occupied a murderer's grave all these twenty years. And where the discovery of his innocence would have been hushed up so that even his family might not have the benefit of knowing that their relative and friend was not a murderer, and nothing human could avail to solace him for

Can Honor's voice provoke the silent dust?
Can Flattery soothe the dull, cold ear of death?

And yet we go on killing people on circumstantial evidence and on the testimony of erring human beings!

The Late James J. Van Alen

Useful in Death

Copyright, 1923, by Star Company

An individual named James J. Van Alen died the other day in a London hospital, leaving about twenty-five million dollars in America. England, France, also the United States, whence he got his money while living abroad, claim an inheritance tax on Van Alen's property. The gentleman, not important of himself, is more interesting dead than alive. He raises the question first as to the right of Americans to spend in Europe gigantic sums drawn from the United States, and second as to the right of the United States to tax property IN the United States.

Whatever Mr. Van Alen happened to have with him in Europe, Europe probably can tax or confiscate. But the taxing ought not to reach to this country. We are not able to discourage spending in warning by expatriated LIVE Americans. But when they're dead we ought at least to get the inheritance tax.

Religion and Government

Separate—the Constitution Says So

Copyright, 1923, by Star Company

Governor Al. Smith of New York, who is described as a candidate for the presidency, congratulates the Jewish Education Association on its plan to take ten thousand children from the streets and give them "a schooling in the Jewish religion." That IS a noble plan. But Mr. Smith's letter says "no State or country can long endure which neglects to inculcate the principles of morality and religion in the minds and hearts of its young people."

If Mr. Smith really intends to be President it would be a good idea for him to read again the Constitution of the United States. He will learn that the State, as such, has nothing to do with "inculcating religion." That the Constitution forbids. It is left to the parents, churches, Sunday schools and religious schools. The business of the nation is to TEACH FACTS THAT ALL ACCEPT, leaving revealed religion, the teaching of miracles, etc., whether Jewish, Christian, Mohammedan, Christian Science or what not, to the various religious specialists and enforcing tolerance for all religions. Many a government has gone down because it mixed religion with government. They are and should remain separate. They will remain separate here.

WOLF DOGS TO TEND SHEEP

WATSON, Mont., Aug. 8.—Whether the instincts of the father will predominate over those of the mother is a question that Henry Lingshire, a manager of the Walker ranch, near here, will answer if he succeeds in training five puppies, the offspring of a wolf father and a shepherd dog mother, to become sheep dogs.

The pups were born April 12 and are now at the playful stage. They will soon be taken out among the sheep flocks for their first lesson.

"To Outlaw War"

Editor Boston American:

The great message President Harding has left to the American people is the finest and most to be remembered words of his service to the country when he said at Marion and again at the Washington Conference "I hope the United States will lead the world to outlaw war." May the spirit of this fine and noble vision not be lost, but carried on until it becomes the law of the world. This is finest memorial service we can render President Harding.

Where Do the Books Go

Editor Boston American:

What happens to the telephone books that are supposed to be installed in the various pay-stations in the city. The other day I was in a hurry to get in touch with a friend whom I knew to live somewhere in the Metropolitan District. I did not know the exchange and so did not waste time trying to get the number through Information. But I spent twenty minutes going from store to store and booth to booth trying to find a telephone directory. It looks as though the store keepers threw the books away.

Barely Enough to Eat

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a mother of five children and expect another any day. I don't see how I am going to pay the doctor and someone to take care of me while I am sick, as we have a lot of bills to pay, and my husband was out of work on account of a strike, since July, 1922. He is working now, but making small pay. We get barely enough to eat. The children all need clothing and so do we. There are two boys twelve, a girl eight, a girl six, and a baby boy 20 months old The boys wear size 1 shoes. They have been going barefoot all Summer but will need shoes soon for school. I wish I could get a wrap or dress of some kind, size 40 or 42, so that I can have something to wear when I am able to go out again.

MRS. E. M.

Carriage and Bassinette

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a baby carriage and a bassinette that I would be glad to send to some needy mother.

M. G. S.

Many thanks. You have been sent the address of Mrs. A. F. D., mother of nine children, who will be very grateful indeed for them.

Old Lady Needs Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

Is there anyone to help a poor old lady with a few clothes? She would appreciate it very much, as I am left all alone with no one to help me only what I can get myself. The city gives me three dollars a week to live on, and that has to last me from one Thursday to the next, and I have to go one day or more without anything to eat, and I am destitute for all clothing. I am in need of dresses and night dresses and underclothes. I can wear from 44 to 46. A good lady gave me a pair of shoes the other day. Sometimes I am almost discouraged fighting against hard luck and poverty. No one knows what it is until they go through it.

MRS. E. S.

Long List Offered

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a few things I would like to give to some needy family. Here is a list of a few things, and I may find more later. Would like them to go to one family if possible.

MRS. H. L.

The list was too long to publish, but we are none the less grateful for it. You have been sent the address of Mrs. N. A. C., mother of a large family, who will be very thankful to get the things you mention.

Please Send Name

Will the little girl who offered clothes for a child three and a "mama" doll, and who signed herself "Mildred," please send us her full name?

Family Needs Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

May I make an appeal for a widow with two small children? She gets fourteen dollars a week. She pays eight dollars for the children's board, and you see she hasn't much to buy clothes on. Could you see through your readers if anyone has any children's clothing? One child wears five year size, and the other is fifteen months old, but large for its age. They need things very badly. The woman herself has been sick and she would be pleased if anyone had a black dress, size 46, that they don't want, as she is very badly in need of clothes. At times she has barely enough to eat.

M. E. D.

For Girl of Thirteen

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a coat and dress and some other things which would be suitable for a girl thirteen.

MRS. S. M.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. S. B., who has a girl that age.

Wants a Stroller

Editor Helping Hand:

I would be very grateful if A. L. H. would send me the stroller mentioned in tonight's paper. I am a young mother with two babies, one is one year old today, and the other, two weeks old. I cannot go out with my babies, as I am not strong enough, but if I had a stroller, my young brother could take the older one out.

A. S.

Sorry, but the stroller offered by A. L. H. has been given to another mother. There may be another offered, however.

House Dresses

Editor Helping Hand:

Will you kindly send me the address of some mother as I have a couple of house dresses, a white skirt, a waist, and a few other things. Am out working myself as my husband (an ex-service man) has been idle since January, through being hurt in service. I think this a wonderful way to help others who are worse off than we are.

MRS. R. D.

Many thanks, both for the offer and the praise. You have been sent the address of Mrs. H. P. S., who wears size 36, and whose husband has been out of work for four months.

Has Ten Children

Editor Helping Hand:

Reading over the American this evening I see where a lady has a stroller to give to someone. I have ten children and only one working, and their father has tuberculosis and does not work very steadily. If no other mother needs it worse than I, I would appreciate it.

MRS. J. C.

We are very sorry, but the stroller went to another. Better luck next time!

LET HIS FUNERAL ROUTE BE HARDING'S MONUMENT

By Herbert Kaufman

MARK the funeral route with milestones and call it the Harding Highway. Let that be his monument—a Via Dolorosa, stretching from the Pacific through the coast range, over the Rockies, along the silent buttes and sage spread plains to Marion.

Senator Cummins, foreseeing the ever-growing weight of responsibility for our Presidents, proposes single terms hereafter—six years, if need be, but no succession.

As time piles fresh burdens upon the brain in the White House, our Chief Executives will bend more and more to the strain.

Human endurance remains limited, while the affairs of administration steadily grow more complex.

The late Charles Norton, who preceded Charles B. Hilles as secretary to Taft, called himself the President's assistant.

The Vice-President of the United States should occupy that role, and from the outset be familiar with every detail of problems and negotiations, which, as experience vividly testifies, he may overnight be summoned to handle.

Giants on Ant Hills

George Washington hadn't so much work in a week as Calvin Coolidge must face each day. Maps then weren't changing faster than Atlases might record shifting frontiers.

Transportation crises, labor adjustments, grave agricultural and fuel questions didn't pop up every twenty-four hours.

Leisurely digested ambassadorial reports arrived on slow sailing vessels, not by wireless and cable.

There were thirteen States instead of forty-eight to consider, and where we now struggle to contain budgets within three billions, ten million dollars were more than sufficient to defray all the engagements of government.

It takes broader shoulders, wider experience and shrewder brains to manage a commonwealth reaching from gulf to lake and New York to California than were necessary to keep a narrow strip along the Atlantic up and doing.

There were giants in those days, but remember that they stood on ant hills.

Not Among Their Problems

Andrew Jackson burned precious hardwoods in his fireplaces. He didn't even know the meaning of conservatism. Congress hadn't anticipated the greedy exploitation of streams and timber tracts.

The natural wealths of America once seemed exhaustless. United States forest product laboratories weren't always striving to protect the fast disappearing woods of the continent from utter destruction.

Two hundred and seventy-five thousand acres of spruce annually passed through our printing presses alone.

Federal chemists, seeking to check such regardless consumption, have discovered a volcanic clay in Wyoming which absorbs the ink from mascerated news stock and enables mills to use the cleansed pulp repeatedly at a saving of 40 per cent. over present manufacturing costs.

Boll weevil ate a billion and a half dollar hole into the South's pocket in less than five years. Samuel Adams wasn't called upon to devise ways and means against blights and to salvage industrial wastage, which are two pressing issues for Calvin Coolidge.

All Roads to One Door

The combined purchase price of Louisiana territory and Alaska, together with the moneys spent on the acquisition of Texas, New Mexico and California, is far exceeded by the Rockefeller Foundation.

Brobdignagian endowments, privately administered for the expression of educational and social theories, threaten conflict with legislative agencies.

The spending of Carnegie's millions already distresses the judgment of his executors. The merciful sums which Rockefeller has placed at the disposal of his stewards are practically restricted to research, but other philanthropies may not devise their riches so wisely.

Congress and the executive will yet be challenged to provide regulatory acts for otherwise embarrassing community gifts.

Suppose a billionaire with Bolshevist leanings directed that the income from his estate should be devoted to the overthrow of democracy.

Another might subsidize a general crusade against religion.

Imagine the disorder in current economic programs if the $75,000,000 Laura Spelman Rockefeller Fund had been designated for the repeal of the eight-hour day instead of work among the suffering and oppressed of earth.

England is puzzled by what to do with 20,000 bequests that can be no longer carried out because the purposes for which they were originally designed have since grown impossible of fulfillment.

All the trails and trials of progress run to the White House door.

Bridges for French Ambition

No need to import European straws. The home problem crop is more than enough to break executive backs.

Britain, at the moment, envies nothing so much as the 4,000 miles between America and the chalk cliffs of Calais.

Garvin, shrewdest sign reader among London editors, bluntly confesses that Baldwin dare not press moderation upon Poincare. He fosesees the rebirth of militarist France, prepared to assert her will, contemptuous of protesting civilization.

He beholds the continent again under her domination. Aligned with Belgium, too soon forgetful of the sacrifices made in her cause, her position is impregnable—the Quai d'Orsay counts bombing squadrons, compares adjacent armies and aviation corps, and knows that its decision can't be countered by force.

The League of Nations and the World Court must either serve as bridges to French ambition or relinquish authority over the Ruhr. Hardly a situation to change that seven million majority.
